Sir Thomas Elder (1818-1897)

Scottish Associations of SA Website: www.scotasa.com.au

Sir Thomas Elder (1818-1897)

Elder was born at Kirkcaldy, Scotland, the fourth son of George Elder, merchant, and his wife Joanna Haddow,

Thomas' second eldest brother, Alexander Lang Elder, went to South Australia in 1839 and founded the firm of Elder and Company in Adelaide. He was joined by his brothers William and George. In 1846 George and Alex went into partnership with experienced pastoralist W.S. Peter to establish a sheep run they named Warrow Station, located at Coulta near Port Lincoln. In August 1851 Alex was elected a member of the Legislative Council for West Adelaide. He resigned his seat in March 1853, and left South Australia. He settled in London in 1855, and acted as agent for the Adelaide company until 1884, when he and his sons established A. L. Elder & Company. William left Adelaide soon after Alexander. George left in 1855.

Thomas Elder migrated to Adelaide in 1854 and worked with George for a year. After George departed, Thomas formed Elder, Stirling & Co, a partnership with Edward Stirling, Robert Barr Smith and John Taylor. In 1856 Barr Smith married Thomas Elder's sister Joanna, and on Stirling and Taylor's retirement in 1863, Barr Smith and Thomas Elder formed Elder Smith and Co. In 1875, with Andrew Tennant, they formed the Adelaide Steamship Company.

In 1864 he persuaded Arthur Hardy to sell him his Glen Osmond home "Birksgate", which he developed considerably. In 1897 it passed to his nephew T. E. Barr Smith.

Elder also had other important interests. In partnership with Robert Barr Smith, they acquired Nilpena Station in 1859. He became associated with Peter Waite in the Paratoo run in 1862, in the same year bought Beltana station, and eventually became the owner of an enormous tract of country. Many other properties Thomas acquired during this time. He was said to have held at one time a pastoral area greater in extent than the whole of Scotland. Much of this was land with a very low rainfall, and Elder spent a great deal of money sinking artesian wells, making dams and fencing. In January 1866 he imported 120 camels from India with "Afghan" attendants, which were of much use in the dry areas and in conveying supplies from Port Augusta. They became an important factor in the development of the northern area of South Australia.

Elder was very fortunate in his mining ventures. Early in the sixties he had large interests in the Moonta and Wallaroo copper-mines which brought him in a huge fortune. He entered political life as a member of the South Australian Legislative Council in 1863 but retired in 1869. He was again elected in 1871 but resigned in 1878 & took no further part in politics.

Elder also had interests in the wine industry and was quite successful in exhibitions in Adelaide and London. He was also a founder of the Tintara Vineyard company in 1862.

Elder encouraged exploration, contributed largely to Warburton's 1873 expedition and Giles's in 1875, supplying camels in each case, which proved to be of the greatest value. He also contributed liberally to the cost of other explorations, and in no case sought or obtained any return for himself. He supported every kind of manly sport and his benefactions both private and public were widespread and almost without limit.

The Art Gallery of South Australia received a bequest of £25,000, and many of the finest pictures of the gallery were purchased from this fund. He contributed substantially to the Library's acquisition program. In 1874 he gave £20,000 towards an endowment fund for the newly established University of Adelaide, and on his death in 1897 bequeathed a further £65,000 to the University, £20,000 of which was for a School of Music. The Elder Conservatorium of Music perpetuates his name. Elder's combined gifts and bequests to the University amount to nearly £100,000.

The Pipes & Drums of The Royal Caledonian Society of South Australia

What started in 1894 is now commonly acknowledged as the most recognized Pipe Band in South Australia and the oldest civilian Pipe Band in the Southern Hemisphere.

Highlights for the band include performances at the international Royal Edinburgh Military Tattoo's in 2001, 2007, 2011 and 2017 as well as the international Royal Edinburgh Military Tattoo's in Australia in 2005, 2010 and 2016. They also performed at the Basel Tattoo in Switzerland in 2013.

In May 2016 they had the honour of being the only Pipe Band from Australia to be invited to perform with other International Pipe Bands at HM the Queen's 90th Birthday celebrations.

The band actively fosters the Scottish Heritage by encouraging youth involvement in music. No prior musical knowledge is required. Tuition is offered in all facets, piping, snare, tenor, bass drums and drum major. Experienced players are always welcome.

If being in a Pipe Band interests you, please contact our Band Manager for details via email rcspipeband@gmail.com or through details listed - page 27.

CLIPPER SHIP – CITY OF ADELAIDE

Discover the ship that changed South Australia and is one of Port Adelaide’s finest visitor attractions! The Clipper Ship “City of Adelaide”

The City of Adelaide is the world’s oldest surviving Clipper Ship and played a significant role in the colonial history of South Australia.

Constructed in 1864 to carry passengers to Adelaide, South Australia, she carried immigrants from places such as England, Scotland, Cornwall, Ireland, Germany and Scandinavia and made 23 return voyages. With a composite construction it was the pinnacle of sailing ship design. Only two survive today, the younger being the Cutty Sark Recovered from Scotland after a 14 year campaign to save the vessel, the City of Adelaide arrived in Adelaide in February 2014.

Mission

It is planned that the City of Adelaide will be the centrepiece of a Seaport Village, offering the perfect interactive environment for visitors to learn about Australian maritime and colonial history. The Village, in addition to maritime and colonial displays, will reflect the cultures of the passengers and crew.

Location: Dock Two, at the end of Honey Street, Port Adelaide

The information Centre/ merchandise store is located at the entry to the ship.

It is open daily from 9am – 3pm (weather permitting).

Tours are conducted inside the ship daily at 10 am, 12 noon and 2 pm.

Cost $20 pp or $30 for families. (Bookings not required; other times by arrangement.)

Telephone: (08) 8337 5645

Suitable footwear required. Please note: NO tours will be held on days of extreme heat.
